Japanese Troops Rushed to Scene In Motor Trucks

Fighting Breaks Out Southwest of Mukden When Chinese Attack a Battalion on Route March—Russia Raps U.S.

DR. SZE HAS NEW PROPOSAL

TOKYO, Nov. 24.—A strong dispatch from Mukden reported that an undetermined number of Japanese soldiers had been killed and wounded when they clashed with a Chinese raiding party in the suburbs of the town of Hsienan.

A Chinese police detachment from Hsienan rushed to the aid of the Chinese from the dispatch said, and attacked the Japanese flank, inflicting numerous casualties.

—To Provide Extra Comforts for Men Confined to Hospital Ward.

Confined to the Military ward of the University hospital are soldiers who fought on the fields of France and Flanders, who are still suffering from the wounds of battle, and who have little hope of recovery.

The government provides medical and hospital care but all consequent necessities, but of necessity makes no effort to provide any comforts.

It is for this purpose that the Bulletin annually opens its columns for the "Not Forgotten Fund."

Each year the "Not Forgotten Fund" administered by the Bulletin in conjunction with the War Widows Association provides extra comforts for the boys from a grateful and remembering public-Bulletin donors who have not forgotten the boys played in that great drama in France and Flanders.

The boys are wearing their 15 years and more of pain and suffering with fortitude, but they have little fun.

The "Not Forgotten Fund" makes it possible for every resident with an opportunity of doing something really worth while, to gladden the heart of a cheerless soldier, to make him smile and heartily feel that after all the boys of his regiment are not forgotten.

In making up your Christmas budget don't forget this fund. Send in your subscription today and it will be acknowledged in time columns.

ALBERTA AUTO CLUB TO FIGHT GAS TAX BOOST

President of Motor Association Announces Hostile Stand

CALGARY, Alta., Nov. 24.—Steps to increase taxation on gasoline would be firmly opposed by the Alberta Motor Association, declared President A. McKay today.

Informed of dispatches predicting that a meeting of the western premiers in Toronto Nov. 29 would discuss such an increase, Mr. McKay emphasized that his association "was hostile to any increase in the gasoline tax."

"It was unnecessary and uncalled for," he stated. Mr. McKay said that resolutions were being passed by the branches of the Alberta association against the tax and that a meeting of the provincial organization would be held in Edmonton Friday, December 4.

Mr. McKay said that he expected the meeting would be discussed and a resolution opposing the tax passed.

When the premiers of the western provinces meet in Calgary in October, representatives of the Alberta Motor Association will be present, and urged that no increase in the gasoline tax be made.

Mr. McKay, president of the Alberta Motor Association, said that the Alberta Motor Association would be present at the meeting.

THEY were giving children away down at the dog track. The women of Prairie Rock had crowded around morning about the Pullman special filled with the children of the orphanage.

The Pullman had been detached from the train at dawn, and left among the children for adoption. Any one with good references could adopt a little one.

Mrs. Hennessy, the local school teacher, had taken her class to see the children. The children were all very nice, but Mrs. Hennessy was looking for a boy.

In Event Pro Hockey Rescheduled Here Arena Will be Available

Reported on the matter of the leasing of the arena to Alton Crockett at the tendered rate of $1200 per month. The city council, after a long and pointed out to the city council Monday night that in the event of professional hockey being revived the use of the arena would be available for much play on terms similar to others in the city. The city council decided that the city would be entitled to participate on a 50-50 basis in all gross receipts in excess of $75 to meet the costs of the arena.

Proposed alterations at the arena would cost $1,400, commissioners estimated. The city council expressed the opinion that the city should not have to foot this bill, a motion was passed to the effect that the city should not be spread over a term of years and the city should be paid for the alterations on a per cent added to the rental to pay for the alterations. The city council also included a penalty fee, dressing room, locker and shower and bath, and a kitchen. The city council also discussed the arena, as well as the installation of new seating.

Resolution of the hearing.

The city council decided that Mr. Crockett was desirous that the city should be paid for the alterations on a per cent added to the rental to pay for the alterations.

Clarence Campbell, secretary of the Dominion and District Hockey association, was present at the meeting and declared that progress at the arena was delayed at present owing to the fact that the association would not sign any contracts with Mr. Brockett until such time as the necessary repairs and installations were made.

OLD MAN COYOTE GIVES UP
Old Man Coyote rubbed his eyes and rubbed his eyes and rubbed his eyes, but all the rubbing in the world wouldn't help him to see. Danny Meadow Mouse. It was simply that Danny wasn't there. He was all right, but Old Man Coyote had to believe his eyes. He HAD to. His eyes were perfectly good eyes, but they couldn't see anything that even looked like a Meadow Mouse. When he couldn't trust to his eyes he used his nose. His nose was perfectly good. There was nothing the matter with Old Man Coyote's nose. But it didn't

Then Old Man Coyote, after all, isn't such a bad fellow, being as grim and finally to laugh.

Send him to Danny Meadow Mouse. He told him that Danny had been there. It told him, in fact, that Danny had been there within a very few minutes. Perhaps if Old Man Coyote had had little more patience he would have told him right then what had become of Danny Meadow Mouse.

But Old Man Coyote was too excited to be patient. Danny Meadow Mouse must be around there somewhere. He just HAD to be that was all. He had been under a pile of brush which had been right on that very spot. He had been there because Old Man Coyote had smiled him and heard him. He couldn't have got out from under there without Old Man Coyote knowing it because Old Man Coyote had kept the charcoal kind of stick with him for tracing that pile of brush to pieces and scattering the sticks. Now those sticks were all scattered and the ground was bare, but there was no Danny Meadow Mouse. Old Man Coyote looked up at the stars and moaned down from the sky and there was a funny look on his face, a look as if he had thought that Danny Meadow Mouse had suddenly grown wings and he expected to see him fly.

READER'S BEAUTY QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Dear Miss Leids—(1) I do not have very much time for money to spend on professional beauty treatments and I would like you to give me some advice on how to keep my hands in good shape and how to make them soft and white. I do a great deal of housework and my hands are always red and rough looking. Your column is most helpful to busy women. Thank you for your interest, advice and service. MISS HOUSEWIFE.

Answer—(1) To keep your hands soft and white, first wash them with soap and water. Then rub them with a good hand cream. I would like you to have your nails cut on the care of the hands and nails. It will give you more de-breathing problem.

Dear Miss Leids—(2) Would you don't write an article on correct breathing and give me the following information concerning deep-breathing exercises. Here is my problem: The exercise says—first inhale deeply through the nose. Then do you hold it a few seconds so that the chest is fully expanded? Now what puzzles me is the exhaling (the more) I shall appreciate it very much if you will help me with this problem. MISS W. S.

Answer—An article on correct breathing will appear shortly. In the meantime, try to breathe slowly and deeply through the nose, thus reaching the lower part of the lungs. This will expand the diaphragm downward and the abdomen out. Next expand the upper part of the lungs. Hold breath for a moment without exhaling. Then exhale slowly and evenly through the nose. In some breathing exercises, you inhale through one nostril and exhale through the other. Still another method is to inhale through the nose and to exhale through the mouth.

LOIS LEBDS.

Who Are You?

This Waterloo family took its name from the famous English castle, Waterloo, which took its name from the old Roman word Wind.

The Windsor family is one of the few families descended from the old Saxon nobility which retained their name and property under Norman Kings. The first known ancestor was Others, a noble lord of North-Saxon descent, who lived in the time of Alfred the Great. The line descended from him assumed the name of

Windsor

Windsor and became very powerful under Henry VIII, even increasing with the royal line itself.

In the earliest times the name was spelled Windesore. We find that Windsor was granted the name of Windesore in Berkshire and subsequently his father as a member of Windsor Castle.

The name of Windsor has been a distinguished one for many centuries and is better by the present royal house of Great Britain.

GRAIN - MARKETS - FINANCE

STEADY CABLES GIVE LIFT TO WHEAT VALUES

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 24.—Improved export demand, steady cables and higher offerings gave a lift to wheat prices in the grain exchange here today. At the close prices were 1½ to 1½ higher than Monday's.

November closed 1½ higher at 67½; December 1½ higher at 67½; May and July finished an even cent higher at 67½ and 68 respectively.

New York wheat placed rates of Canadian wheat for export at more than one million bushels. There appeared to be a better demand for such wheat and this had an effect on the future market. Brevinshill reported a very small milling demand at Liverpool with buyers holding off for a more stable market both in grain and currency exchange.

Publications of figures showing total production of wheat in Canada for the year to be 1,000,000 bushels and 1½ to 1½ higher at 67½ and 68 respectively.

Cheap offerings from the board were reported from around and C. F. F. wheat. No. 1 hard red wheat to Liverpool were quoted almost four cents under Canadian No. 3 northern.

Chas. W. Wilson, an improved view. High grades advanced their premiums while low grades dropped slightly. Only few export (rotated) to season grain and fair sales reported.
